

Neuro cat ears Necomimi

Interactive cat ears new bold and very funny invention of Japanese company Neurowear. The ears respond to the interest and complacency of the user and make known to others how the mood of the one who wears them. If you are calm and your attention is scattered they fall and if you are interested something or skoncentrovany they rise. How to make a purchase on credit Fill the basket of goods Select a payment method to Buy on credit Complete the online application Sign the loan agreement at the time of receipt of the goods The service provided by the Bank JSC Tinkoff Bank in conjunction with the system of online lending Copyright. Today, the technology that until recently it was impossible to imagine in everyday life are used for entertainment. Necomimi ears which respond to the user state they are lowered when a person is calm and climb when he's interested. Of course such an invention could only appear in Japan produces a company Neurowear, in cooperation with the famous manufacturer of neuro-interface Neurosky. Built-in sensor is very sensitive and does not just respond to the temperature and detects electromagnetic changes in the brain. Toy you can find useful application when used on a child's ears will help parents determine what the child really likes and why, it becomes boring. This is especially popular accessory among girls. In

Link to article:: Neuro cat ears Necomimi